Background

The Pharmacy Guild of Australia is an employer's organisation registered under the Workplace Relations Act. Its role is to service the needs of independent community pharmacies. It exists for the protection and development of its members and to maintain community pharmacies as the most appropriate providers of health care to the community through optimum therapeutic use of drugs and drug management, industrial matters as well as providing local member support and advice regarding workplace relation matters. Most of these pharmacies are direct members of the guild.

Community pharmacies are the most frequently accessed and most accessible health destination particularly in rural and regional areas, with over 440 million individual patient visits annually. The pharmacy profession continues to be strongly represented by women, with 62.5% of Australian pharmacists being female (19,715 female pharmacists compared to 11,850 male pharmacists). Despite the large representation being female only 30% of pharmacy owners are women and/or in leadership roles.
